THE HONEYMOON SCOOP

Prince William and Kate Middleton are maintaining a dignified silence on their honeymoon plans, but OK! has the scoop on the most likely locations for the royal couple's post-wedding escape. "Privacy is their main concern," says Christopher Andersen, author of William and Kate: A Royal Love Story, who expects the globe-trotting couple to catch their breath at Balmoral, the queen's Scottish residence, before heading off on an exotic escape – most likely Mustique. "William and Kate have spent some of their happiest days on Mustique," he explains. "And the islanders have already proven themselves masters at keeping prying eyes away."

1 THE FAVORITE

Will and Kate enjoyed sailing and relaxing in Mustique in 2008.

MUSTIQUE

Will and Kate may return to Mustique's Villa Hibiscus, a five-bedroom hilltop hideaway overlooking the Caribbean island's stunning Macaroni Beach. The villa's owners, plus the island's doctor, yoga teacher and even the local bar owner have all been invited to the wedding.

2 MOST REMOTE

Australia's Heron Island offers privacy and world-class scuba diving.

AUSTRALIA

Will recently hinted at a honeymoon in Australia, saying he's "always wanted to dive the [Great] Barrier Reef." The couple could stay at Heron Island, one of the Great Barrier Reef's chicest private resorts.

3 PATRIOTIC

Will's dad, Prince Charles, is a big fan of England's Isles of Scilly.

ENGLAND

The outdoorsy pair wouldn't need to travel far for a stay on the gorgeous Isles of Scilly, home to England's best beaches. The publicity would also guarantee a tourism boost for their country.

LIKE MOTHER, LIKE DAUGHTER! BUT WHO LOOKS BETTER IN KATE'S SIGNATURE STYLE?

Not every mom can raid her daughter's wardrobe, but lithe mother of the bride Carole Middleton, 56, loves to share looks with Kate, 29. "Props to both for being so bang on trend," enthuses E! fashion expert Louise Roe, who tells OK! why Kate's still one step ahead of her fashion-forward mom.

SHE DID!

"Carole's black belt keeps her outfit modern and shows off her figure," explains Louise.

SHE DID!

"This is a very grown-up, country look, but Kate beats Carole with her fab hat."

SHE DID!

"Kate pulls it off better with a lighter, softer overcoat, which looks less severe."
